Vorwort

Liebe Schülerin, lieber Schüler, das vorliegende Buch hilft dir, dich im Fach Englisch effektiv auf den Mittleren Bildungsabschluss (Klasse 10) an der Werkrealschule vorzubereiten.

Dieser Band enthält Übungsaufgaben im Stil der aktuellen Prüfung sowie die Original-Prüfungsaufgaben 2014 bis 2019 und 2021. Die Original-Prüfungsaufgaben 2022 stehen dir in digitaler Form zur Verfügung. Sobald sie freigegeben sind, kannst du sie von der Plattform MyStark (siehe Code vorne im Buch) herunterladen.

Da die bisherigen Prüfungsformate sich nur noch zum Teil mit denen der Prüfung ab 2021 decken – so kam u. a. der Kompetenzbereich „Hörverstehen“ dazu – wurde die Prüfung 2020 nicht mehr in diesen Band aufgenommen. Die Sammlung der Originalprüfungen 2014 bis 2019 bietet dir jedoch weiterhin die Möglichkeit, dich anhand bestimmter Aufgaben auch gut auf die neue Prüfung vorzubereiten. Welche Aufgaben der alten Prüfung sich zur Vorbereitung eignen, wird auf der nächsten Seite erklärt.

Zu allen Aufgaben sind die Lösungen enthalten. Zusätzlich findest du hilfreiche  Hinweise und Tipps zur Bearbeitung.

Sollten nach Erscheinen dieses Bandes noch wichtige Änderungen für die Abschlussprüfungen 2023 vom Ministerium für Kultus, Jugend und Sport bekannt gegeben werden, findest du aktuelle Informationen dazu ebenfalls auf der Plattform MyStark.

Wir wünschen dir viel Spaß beim Üben und viel Erfolg in deinen Prüfungen!

Part 2 – Part 5: Text

US National Parks

1 More than 300 million people from around the world visit America's national parks each year. They visit beautiful places like the Grand Canyon and Yosemite. They walk among the ancient giant sequoia trees and 5 watch wolves, bison and bears in their natural habitats. They are all managed by the U.S. National Park Service. Jonathan Jarvis is the National Park Service Director: "For the last 100 years, the National Park Service has been charged by the U.S. government to

10 manage the very best of America; the very best places that represent both our natural and cultural heritage. To be part of this organization and to be in the directorship is really a lifelong dream for me. I like to say the National Park Service is the only federal agency with the responsibility to ensure the public actually has fun! So we have a lot of places that are there for the enjoyment of the American people, and visitors from around 15 the world."

Called the country's national treasures, these parks are found in every state. They cover over 32 million hectares from Guam to the Virgin Islands to Alaska. There are 412 sites in all. But they are not just places of wild nature. The national parks include thousands of historic buildings, presidential homes, monuments and Civil War battlefields. They tell the story of the United 20 States of America. The director says the parks are not just about seeing their beauty: "We want you to learn something, to take something away. Whether it's to learn about nature or plate tectonics or climate change, but also about history."

Jarvis says it is an honor to serve as the director. It is a big job. The agency has 22,000 employees and gets help from another 400,000 volunteers. He says being in charge of incredible places 25 is the best job in the government.

The national parks hold some of the country's most beautiful natural spaces. One thing the park service must deal with, however, is climate change. The parks are federally protected, but that does not shelter them from the effects of warming temperatures. Jarvis gives some examples. Like the glaciers – the large bodies of ice on slopes – in Glacier National Park. He says they 30 will be gone within 20–25 years. He adds that the wildfires in the national parks and other public lands are burning at least a month longer than in years past. Because of climate change, he says, the forests are not even coming back the same way: "We're seeing species being forced to migrate and not necessarily having the corridors to connect between parks and protected areas across the landscape."

35 Heading into its second century, Jarvis says the new national parks will be more representative of women and minorities in the U.S. He says there are several key goals for the parks' future. One of those goals, he says, is battling to protect the key natural resources. (493 words)

Transcript: On the plane

- 1 Jenny is on her way home from the USA. She is in the plane now and talking to a flight attendant.
Flight attendant: Hello, what would you like to eat? The pasta bolognese or the curry chicken?
Jenny: Oh, do you only have meat? When I booked the flight I chose the vegetarian meal ...
Flight attendant: Oh, sorry, Ms ...
5 Jenny: Johnson – Jenny.
Flight attendant: OK, just a minute ... Yes, here it is, with your name on it: pasta with vegetables. I'm sorry for the inconvenience.
Jenny: Never mind. Thank you very much.
Flight attendant: Would you also like some dessert? We can offer you chocolate mousse or fresh fruit.
10 Jenny: Chocolate mousse sounds delicious. I'll take it.
Flight attendant: Here's your chocolate mousse. Enjoy.
Jenny: Thank you. Oh ... I've still got a question. My entertainment system doesn't work. Could you get someone to have a look at it?
Flight attendant: Yes, of course. I'll tell my colleague to fix it.
15 Jenny: Thank you so much. It's such a long flight and I need something to occupy myself with ...

a)	meals on offer	pasta bolognese / curry chicken
b)	Jenny's choice	vegetarian meal / (pasta with vegetables)
c)	desserts on offer	chocolate mousse / fresh fruit
d)	Jenny's problem	entertainment system doesn't work
e)	flight attendant's answer	her colleague will fix it

Hinweis:

zu a): "The pasta bolognese or the curry chicken?" (Z. 2) zu b): "Oh, do you only have meat? When I booked the flight I chose the vegetarian meal ..." (Z. 3); hier geht es darum, dass Jenny das vegetarische Menü gewählt hat – auch die Lösung „pasta with vegetables“ (Z. 6f.) wäre denkbar, aber es geht aus der Unterhaltung nicht hervor, ob Jenny bei ihrer Buchung bereits genau dieses Gericht auswählen konnte.

zu c): "Would you also like some dessert? We can offer you chocolate mousse or fresh fruit." (Z. 9); beachte, dass es hier darum geht, welche Desserts zur Auswahl („on offer“) stehen und nicht, für welche Nachspeise sich Jenny entschieden hat.

zu d): "My entertainment system doesn't work." (Z. 12) zu e): "I'll tell my colleague to fix it." (Z. 14)

Transcript:

- 1 Carol: Hey Peter, haven't seen you in a while. Jack told me you had this incredible party last weekend.
Peter: Yeah, we had a huge dinner party in our garden on Saturday, but all of a sudden it started to rain and even to thunder. Everybody had to grab their plates and run inside. That's the disadvantage of celebrating in the garden.
- 5 Carol: Oh no ... We are going to have a party at the lake this weekend. Today the weather is not that nice, but the weather forecast says it's going to be sunny at the end of the week. Anyway, would you like to come?
Peter: Oh, I'd love to. Who else is going to come to the party?
Carol: Well, a number of colleagues and some people I know from the gym.
- 10 Peter: Ah OK, we just had family at our place a week ago. And it's always the same! One keeps telling everyone about the good old times and the other is criticizing other peoples' cooking. Everyone brought home-made food, you know.
Carol: We'll have lots of Italian food at our party. Kevin and Sarah are going to help out with the cooking.
Peter: Hey, I'll help, too! I'll make lasagna! Is there going to be a theme for the party?
- 15 Carol: Yeah, it's "A Night in Rome". We spent so many holidays in Rome. I love the atmosphere in those small alleys in the area around the city centre. I want everybody to be dressed in elegant Italian-style clothes. Did you have something like a theme for your party?
Peter: A clown!
Carol: You're kidding me.
- 20 Peter: Haha, yeah, I was joking. But there was a special feature: Jane booked a piano player without telling me!
Carol: What a nice surprise! Anyway, see you on Friday, Peter.
