

Fourth Edition

Business Ethics and Values

Colin Fisher
Alan Lovell
Néstor Valero-Silva

Business Ethics and Values

Companion Website

For open-access student resources specifically written to complement this textbook and support your learning, please visit www.pearsoned.co.uk/fisherlovellvalerosilva

Business Ethics and Values

Table of Contents

Cover

Title

Copyright

Contents

Introduction

Acknowledgements

PART A: Business ethics matters: what is it and why does it matter?

Chapter 1 Perspectives on business ethics and values

Learning outcomes

Introduction

Stories and business ethics

Case study 1.1: The News of the World story

The business case for business ethics

Stakeholder theory

Business and organisational ethics

Case study 1.2: Biography and philosophy

Boundaries of jurisdiction or spheres of justice

Defining the boundaries of the economic sphere

Reflections

Summary

Typical assignments

Group activity 1.1

Useful websites

Chapter 2 Ethical issues in business

Learning outcomes

Introduction

Part one: The map of business ethics issues

Part two: Encouraging goodness

Table of Contents

Case study 2.1: The Nationwide Foundation

Case study 2.2: British Sugar and Sunday trucking

Case study 2.3: Farepak

Case study 2.4: AIDS drugs and patent rights in South Africa

Case study 2.5: Child labour in developing countries

Case study 2.6: David Shayler and whistleblowing on MI5

Part three: Creating a level playing field, benignness

Case study 2.7: Paying for staff's professional training

Case study 2.8: Executive fat cats and banker's bonuses

Case study 2.9: The oil companies and the 2000 fuel crisis

Case study 2.10: Providing new drugs on the NHS to people with multiple sclerosis

Case study 2.11: Discriminating against employees the Metropolitan Police Service

Case study 2.12: The British railway system: priorities, profits and governance

Part four: Preventing indifference to others

Case study 2.13: The case of Shell's missing oil barrels

Case study 2.14: BAT, Nottingham University and the honorary professor

Case study 2.15: Lord Browne of Madingley

Case study 2.16: Economy with the truth when dealing with the tax authorities

Case study 2.17: Fraudulent businesses Parmalat, Satyam & Madoff

Case study 2.18: Lord Black and Hollinger International

Case study 2.19: BAT and allegations of cigarette smuggling

Case study 2.20: The retention of dead babies' organs in hospitals

Part five: Discouraging badness

Case study 2.21: British Airways and Virgin Atlantic

Case study 2.22: The hospital consultants

Case study 2.23: Supermarkets' treatment of their supply chains

Case study 2.24: The Super Size Me sales promotion

Case study 2.25: Sexual harassment

Case study 2.26: The Firestone Tire recall issue

Case study 2.27: Huntingdon Life Sciences

Reflections

Summary

Typical assignments

Group activity 2.1

Table of Contents

Recommended further reading

Useful websites

Chapter 3 Ethical theories and how to use them

Learning outcomes

Introduction

A map of ethical theories

Applying ethical theories

Reflections

Summary

Typical assignments

Group activity 3.1

Recommended further reading

Useful websites

PART B: Individuals' responses to ethical issues

Chapter 4 Personal values and heuristics

Learning outcomes

Introduction

Perceptions of values

Case study 4.1: Chris's managerial development: a fable

Values and ethical thinking

Heuristic thinking

Decision-making heuristics

Values as heuristics in ethical reasoning

Value heuristics and priority setting

Integrity and loyalty as value heuristics

Discussion of the Dilemma simulation in Activity 4.4

Reflections

Summary

Typical assignments

Group activity 4.1

Group activity 4.2

Recommended further reading

Useful websites

Chapter 5 Individual responses to ethical situations

Table of Contents

Learning outcomes

Introduction

Categories of response to ethical issues

Competing stances: the possibility of cognitive dissonance

Case study 5.1: Disabled access

Case study 5.2: Particularized and categorisation

Influences on choice of stance

Reflections

Summary

Typical assignments

Group activity 5.1

Recommended further reading

Useful websites

Chapter 6 Whistleblower or witness?

Learning outcomes

Introduction

When is a whistleblowing act performed?

Why whistleblow?

Case study 6.1: Paying a heavy price

Case study 6.2: The Lyme Bay canoeing tragedy

Case study 6.3: Dickensian practices, but in modern times

Case study 6.4: What is a life worth?

When might whistleblowing be justified?

Case study 6.5: Victimisation and its consequences

Whistleblowing: a positive or negative force within society?

Case study 6.6: The engineering company and its overseas markets

Case study 6.7: A postscript to Case study 6.6

Suppressed whistleblowing

Case study 6.8: The charity

Case study 6.9: The costs of whistleblowing

Case study 6.10: The hospital case

The Public Interest Disclosure Act (1998) (PIDA)

Reflections

Summary

Table of Contents

Typical assignments

Group activity 6.1

Recommended further reading

Useful websites

PART C: Organisational responses to ethical issues

Chapter 7 Corporate governance, an organisation's external accountability

Learning outcomes

Introduction

The arguments for taking corporate governance seriously

Developments in corporate governance

Case study 7.1: Women on boards of directors

What have the developments in corporate governance achieved?

International best practice standards

Shareholder activism

Case study 7.2: A law professor, as citizen, takes action

Case study 7.3: A judge, as citizen takes action

Governance and bribery and corruption

Corporate manslaughter

Case study 7.4: The Herald of Free Enterprise

Reflections

Summary

Typical assignments

Group activity 7.1

Recommended further reading

Useful websites

Chapter 8 Compliance and integrity: an organisation's internal accountability

Learning outcomes

Introduction

An overview of the pressures upon organisations for ethical development

Codes of conduct and codes of ethics

Factors that will affect the impact of a code

Writing a code of ethics

Arguments against the employment of codes of conduct and ethics

The difficulties of writing codes of conduct the ethics of e-communication

Table of Contents

Ethical culture and ethos

Reflections

Summary

Typical assignments

Group activity 8.1

Recommended further reading

Useful websites

Chapter 9 Corporate Social Responsibility

Learning outcomes

Introduction

The early calls for social responsibility (SR)

The emergence of corporate social responsibility (CSR)

Corporate citizenship, political donations and lobbying

Corporate social responsibility

Case study 9.1: The tobacco industry

Case study 9.2: When can genetically modified crops be grown?

Case study 9.3: Markets, prices and need

Case study 9.4: An economically successful corporation with a view of its social position

Case study 9.5: The U'wa and Oil Exploration

Contemporary issues in CSR

The future of CSR

Summary

Typical assignments

Recommended further reading

Useful websites

Chapter 10 Sustainability

Learning outcomes

Introduction

Case study 10.1: Herbal remedy from the Amazon rain forest

Sustainability discourses and drivers

Carbon market mechanisms

Sustainable development (SD)

The instrumental use of nature

The future of sustainability

Table of Contents

Summary

Typical assignments

Group activity 10.1

Recommended further reading

Useful websites

PART D: The international context

Chapter 11 Global and local values and international business

Learning outcomes

Introduction

Business and managerial values in different countries and societies

The normative debate about ethical universalism and relativism in the business context

When different sets of organisational and managerial values meet

Case study 11.1: The college principal's new car

Case study 11.2: Testing Maori employees for drugs in a New Zealand company

Reflections

Summary

Typical assignments

Group activity 11.1

Recommended further reading

Useful websites

Chapter 12 Globalisation and international business

Learning outcomes

Introduction

Trickle down or just trickery?

Case study 12.1: Anita Roddick's views on globalisation

Developing institutions or taking advantage?

Case study 12.2: The Bhopal disaster

Case study 12.3: Indonesia

Creating political tensions between and within states

Case study 12.4: The oil industry and the Niger Delta

Case study 12.5: The BakuTbilisiCeyhan (BTC) oil pipeline

Staying put or getting out?

Case study 12.6: Businesses and South Africa in the apartheid era

Cultural diversity or cultural homogenisation?

Table of Contents

Case study 12.7: McDonald's fries

Global governance

Case study 12.8: The International Code of Marketing of Breastmilk Substitutes

Case study 12.9: Breastmilk substitutes in Malawi

Reflections

Summary

Typical assignments

Group activity 12.1

Recommended further reading

Useful websites

Chapter 13 Moral agency at work and a modest proposal for affecting ethics in business

Learning outcomes

Introduction

Challenges to moral agency in modern organisations

The corporation and democratic ideals

Sustainability

Business sustainability

Challenging central assumptions of economics, politics and human behaviour

Case study 13.1: Malawi and the consequences of deregulating and privatising the grain market

A modest proposal for affecting ethics in business

The processes of moral agency

Thinking through the issues and deciding on the best action

Summary

Typical assignments

Group activity 13.1

Recommended further reading

Useful websites

Chapter 14 Concluding integrative case studies

Introduction

Integrative case study 1: Binge drinking and corporate social responsibility

Integrative case study 2: Accountability issues of the Glencore IPO

Filmography

Table of Contents

References

Index