

Introduction to Forensic and Criminal Psychology

Seventh Edition

Pearson

DENNIS HOWITT

Introduction to Forensic and Criminal Psychology

Introduction to Forensic and Criminal Psychology

Table of Contents

Front Cover

Half Title

Title Page

Copyright Page

Brief Contents

Contents

List of figures, tables and boxes

Preface

Author's acknowledgements

1 What is forensic and criminal psychology?

Overview

Introduction

Researcher-practitioners

History of forensic and criminal psychology

Conclusion

Further reading

2 The social context of crime

Overview

Introduction

The extent of crime

The extent of criminality

Crime rates compared internationally

Estimating the amount of crime

Life-time likelihood of being a crime victim

Conservative and radical interpretations

Table of Contents

COVID-19 and crime

International variations in justice systems

Conclusions

Further reading

3 Crime and the public

Overview

Introduction

Knowledge of crime

What is fear of crime?

What influences fear of crime?

Theories of fear of crime

Conclusions

Further reading

4 Victims of crime

Overview

Introduction

Victim-offender overlap

Psychology and the victims of crime

PTSD and the victims of crime

What leads to a greater likelihood of PTSD?

PTSD and re-victimisation

PTSD among offenders

Post-traumatic anger

Psychological help for victims

Victim decision making

Counterfactual thinking

Victim resistance to crime

Restorative justice

Conclusions

Further reading

5 Theories of crime

Table of Contents

Overview

Introduction

Neuropsychology of offending

Intelligence and crime

Psychoanalysis and crime

Addiction to crime

Eysenck's biosocial theory of crime

Social learning theory

The social construction of crime

Conclusions

Further reading

6 Juvenile offenders and beyond

Overview

Introduction

International comparisons

Adolescents, crime and the family

Criminogenic factors in childhood

Continuity of childhood and adult antisocial behaviour

Biological factors in antisocial behaviour

Two types of delinquents

Specific explanations of antisocial behaviour in childhood

Social interventions to reduce delinquency

Diversion from the criminal justice system

Conclusions

Further reading

7 Theft and other crimes against property

Overview

Introduction

Illegal downloading

Shoplifting

Burglary

Table of Contents

Expertise among criminals

Arson and pyromania

Conclusions

Further reading

8 Violent offenders

Overview

Introduction

Are violent criminals specialists?

Alcohol and violent crime

Anger and its management in violent crime

Media influences on violent crime

Theories of homicide

Domestic violence: forensic issues

Domestic violence by women against men

Stalking: what sort of crime?

Desistance from violent crime

Conclusions

Further reading

9 Sexual offenders 1: rapists

Overview

Introduction

Frequency of rape

Youthful sex offenders

Sex offenders as specialists and generalists

Is rape a sexual orientation?

Anger and hostility and sex offending

Patterns in rape

The nature of rapists

Rape myths

Rape myths and policing

Socio-cultural factors and sexual violence

Table of Contents

More on the theory of rape

Synthesising explanations of sex offending

Offence Seriousness Escalation

Conclusions

Further reading

10 Sexual offenders 2: paedophiles and child molestation

Overview

Introduction

Classifications of child molesters

How common is paedophilia?

The normal sex lives of paedophiles

The nature of paedophile offences

Theories of paedophilia

Denial and sex offending

Internet paedophile offenders

Conclusions

Further reading

11 Police psychology

Overview

Introduction

Police culture

Explaining police bias

The cognitive interview

Other types of police interview

Forensic hypnosis

Police as eyewitnesses: how accurate are they?

The police caution

Use of lethal force

Stress and other impacts of police work

Conclusions

Further reading

Table of Contents

12 Terrorism and hostage-taking incidents

Overview

Introduction

The consequences of terrorism

The nature of terrorism

Mental health and personality problem issues and terrorism

The problem of terrorist risk assessment

What makes a terrorist?

Planning terrorist attacks

The end of terrorist organisations

Hostage barricade incidents

Hostage negotiation

Conclusions

Further reading

13 Eyewitness testimony

Overview

Introduction

Eyewitness testimony as a central issue in forensic and criminal psychology

The accuracy of witness evidence

Later intrusions into eyewitness memory

Eyewitness evidence in court

Improving the validity of the line-up

The importance of eyewitness evidence research

Facial composites, age progression and identification

Conclusions

Further reading

14 Profile analysis 1: FBI-style offender profiling

Overview

Introduction

The origins of offender profiling

The FBI profiling process

Table of Contents

The methodology of the FBI profilers

Profiling and police investigations

An example of FBI profiling

What research says about profiles

Does profiling work?

Conclusions

Further reading

15 Profile analysis 2: investigative psychology, statistical and geographical profiling

Overview

Introduction

Geographical profiling

Criminal profiling - the research-based approach

The homology issue and basic theory

Consistency in offending

Crime linkage

Profiling and personality

Conclusions

Further reading

16 False allegations

Overview

Introduction

The police approach to false allegations

Pathways to false allegations

The recovered memory/false memory debate

False claims of abuse and children

Suggestibility

The diagnosticity of signs of abuse

In what ways are genuine allegations different?

Conclusions

Further reading

Table of Contents

17 False and true confessions

Overview

Introduction

Methods of inducing confessions

Police interrogation and false confessions

Demonstrating different types of false confession

Distinguishing between true and false confessions

Consequences of a false confession

Can evidence of a confession be disregarded in court?

Conclusions

Further reading

18 Lies, lie detecting and credibility 1: the psychology of deception

Overview

Introduction

Ekman's theory of lie detection

Are professional lie detectors really no better?

Reliance on invalid cues to deception

The quest for lie detection wizards

Improving lie detection hit rates - cognitive overload

What offenders say about lying

Talking more for better lie detection

Strategic questioning and the Strategic Use of Evidence (SUE) technique

Verifiability approach to lie detection

Wider uses of deception research

Training in lie detection

Conclusions

Further reading

19 Lies, lie detecting and credibility 2: the polygraph test, statement validity analysis and SCAN

Overview

Introduction

Table of Contents

The polygraph

Problems with the polygraph

Studies of the validity of polygraphy

Polygraphy and the post-conviction sex offender

Alternatives to the polygraph

Statement validity analysis: criterion-based content analysis and the validity checklist

The validity of statement validity analysis

The status of criterion-based content analysis

Scientific content analysis (SCAN)

Conclusions

Further reading

20 Children as witnesses

Overview

Introduction

What is difficult about forensic interviews with children?

The ground rules for interviews

Improving forensic questioning of children

Interviewing very young children

The problem of non-compliance with good questioning

The trade-off of accuracy against completeness

What do we know about interviewing children?

Rapport

Children and lying

Errors of omission and commission

Long-term influences of questioning

Children and line-up identifications

Facial fit construction

Interviewers and child witness testimony

Conclusions

Further reading

21 Mental disorders and crime

Table of Contents

Overview

Introduction

Mental disorders and the criminal justice system

Controlling for confounding factors

Psychosis and criminal violence

Violence in the mentally ill and national trends

Confounding by overlapping definitions

The confounding effects of medication

The clinical sample problem

Misclassification of the mentally ill and violence

Effects of general social trends

Mental illness and violent crime in community samples

Post-traumatic stress disorder and crime

Clinical aspects of violence

Who among the mentally ill is violent?

Mental illness and crime in general

Why should there be greater criminality among the mentally ill?

Violent victimisation of the mentally ill

The special issue of psychopaths and crime

Reconviction and mental illness

The police and mental illness

Conclusions

Further reading

22 Mental, personality and intellectual problems in court

Overview

Introduction

Competence/capacity/fitness to stand trial

Psychopaths and mental illness

Post-traumatic stress disorder as a defence

Conclusions

Further reading

23 Judges and lawyers

Table of Contents

Overview

Introduction

The adversarial and inquisitorial types of trial

Are trial outcomes predictable?

The presentation of evidence in court

Underlying narrative of legal arguments

Other lawyer tactics

Is expert evidence understood in court?

Judgements

Decision making in court

Theories of judicial decision making

Conclusions

Further reading

24 Juries and decision making

Overview

Introduction

Scientific jury selection and litigation consultation

Simple improvements to aid jurors

The effect of jury size and decision rules

How real juries make decisions

Non-evidential evidence

Conclusions

Further reading

25 Effective prison

Overview

Introduction

Prison as a therapeutic community

Violence in prison

Therapeutic fixes for prison violence

A quick fix for prison aggression?

Suicide in prison

Table of Contents

The effectiveness of prison

'Nothing works'

Prison work works

The many dimensions of psychology in prison

Conclusions

Further reading

26 Psychological treatments for prisoners and other offenders

Overview

Introduction

Sex offender therapy in prison

Does treatment work?

Treating violent criminals

The Aggression Training Programme (ART)

Other treatments for violent offending

Anger and violence

Manualisation

The high-risk offender problem

Conclusions

Further reading

27 Risk, recidivism and desistance

Overview

Introduction

Risk assessment

Just what are dynamic risk factors?

What does research say about risk factors?

Clinical judgement versus statistical assessment

Some structured clinical methods

Predictors may be specific rather than general

Statistical or actuarial prediction

Predictive factors

Issues in the assessment of risk and dangerousness

Table of Contents

Offence paralleling behaviour

Protective factors in risk assessment

Conclusions

Further reading

Glossary

References

Name Index

Subject Index

Publisher's acknowledgements

Back Cover